Debtors.

Chapter 13

ORDER

This case is before the court on the applications for additional attorney's fees filed by Peter K. Gemborys. On June 13, 2007, the court conducted a hearing on these matters in Wilmington, North Carolina.

In these cases, Mr. Gemborys is seeking non-base fees for services performed more than one year after the bankruptcy filing or for the fourth service provided within the first year of a bankruptcy case. The trustee objected to the fee applications, asserting that the length of time between the services rendered and the filing of the fee applications places an unreasonable burden on the debtors and the estates.

At the hearing, Mr. Gemborys testified that, as a result of his review of cases after his suspension from practice before this court in November 2006, he discovered that his office staff had not filed fee applications for services warranting non-base fees. Mr. Gemborys asserted that, until he independently reviewed the cases, he was unaware that the fee applications had not been filed for the services performed.

Mr. Gemborys noted that Local Rule 2016-1, addressing compensation of professionals, does not set forth a filing deadline for non-base fee applications. Despite the absence of a finite deadline in the local rule, equity imposes a duty to act in a reasonable manner. “[I]ndependently of any limitation prescribed for the guidance of courts of law, equity may, in the exercise of its own inherent powers, refuse relief where it is sought after undue and unexplained delay, and when injustice would be done, in the particular case, by granting the relief asked.” Wolf v. Citizens Bank & Trust Co. of Southern Pines, 92 F.2d 233, 236 (4th Cir. 1937). Some of the fee applications involve services provided years ago in cases that are closing. The reason for the delay is simply administrative oversight. The court has reviewed the non-base fee applications at issue. The court finds that, for cases where services were provided before January 1, 2006, the delay is unreasonable and unjustified requiring debtors who have anticipated the closing of their cases to extend the terms of their plan to accommodate fees for services that were rendered years ago. For those cases where services were provided January 1, 2006 or thereafter, the court will grant the non-base fee applications.

Based on the foregoing, the court DENIES the following non-base fee applications:
